For You Mr. Berkowitz

Commencement, a time for celebration because it is the beginning. This yearbook is dedicated to Mr. Berkowitz as he commences his retirement after thirty-three years of service in the Boston Public Schools.

Mr. Berkowitz graduated from Boston Latin School in 1943 and, even then, he knew that he wanted to teach. He went on to get a bachelor's degree from Yeshiva College in New York town High. He was head of college peering with Bunker Hill Community College. He also was involved in the mentor program, mediation, and the alternative education program. Thanks to Mr. Berkowitz we have had school speakers, assemblies, trips and many cultural activities.

It is with appreciation that we, the class of 1989, dedicate our yearbook to Mr. Ralph Berkowitz. Thank you for your inspiration.

City. From there he went to Boston University, where he received his graduate degree.

At English High School, Mr. Berkowitz began his teaching career as a biology teacher. He remained there for over a decade. He came to Charlestown High as the head of the science department. After serving many years in the science department, Mr. Berkowitz changed his position and became the flexible campus coordinator. He left Charlestown to be the coordinator for all the flexible campus programs in the city. He soon returned to Charlestown as developmental officer.

In his new position, he had many duties. He was in charge of our school's business partnership with Liberty Mutual, which helps to fund the yearbook and newspaper for Charles-

BEGINNINGS

... The Alpha And Omega Are The First And Last Letters Of The Greek Alphabet. They Have, For Centuries, Been Symbolically Used To Represent The Beginning And Ending Of Life's Important Experiences. It Is Appropriate, Therefore, For Us To Choose Beginnings And Endings As Our Theme.

Graduation Marks Our Beginnings In The Adult World Of Work Or College.

- ENDINGS

We No Longer Have Someone To Guide Us, We Will Be On Our Own. Which Is Why Graduation Is Called Commencement Which Means The Beginning.

Graduation Is Also An Ending In Many Ways. It Marks The End Of Schooling For Many Of Us. It Is The Official End Of Being A "Child"; And, Sadly, Marks The End Of Friendships Which Have, Perhaps, Lasted For Many Years.

This Book Will Preserve The Memories Which We Like To Think Only Have Beginnings.

Working So Hard

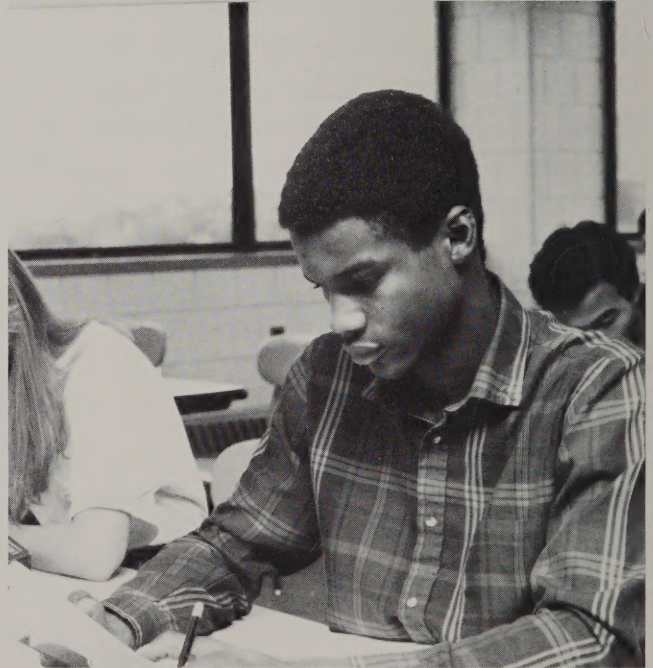

This is a genuine C.H.S. hard-worker.

We're glad we took a picture because this is a rare sight!

She may be busy, but she doesn't look very happy.

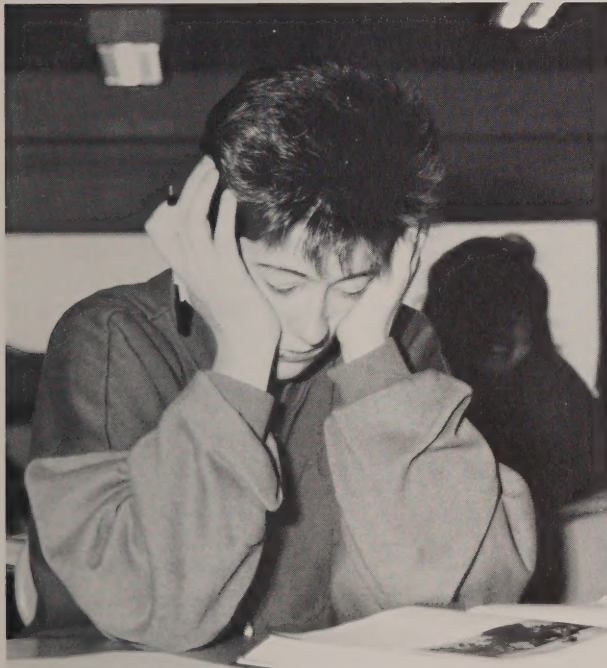

He's so smart he reads the dictionary for fun!

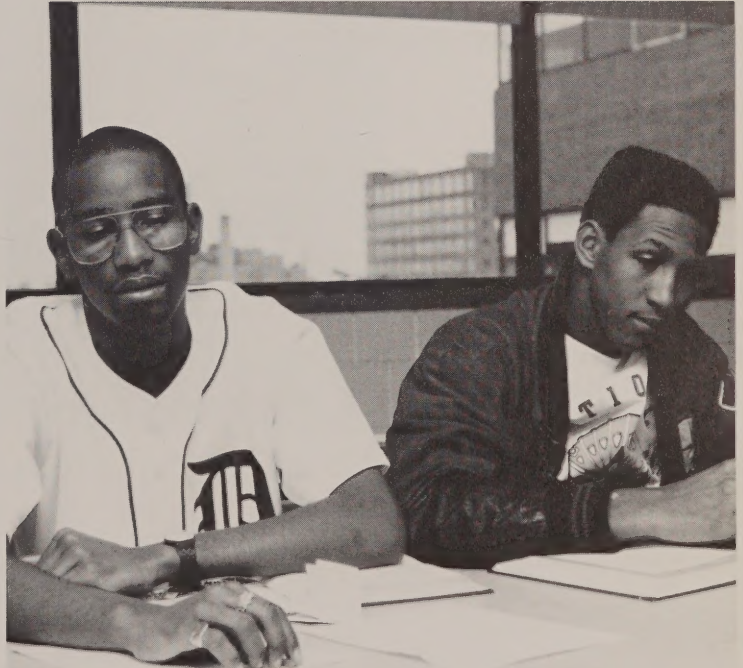

Did you call me? What was the question?

You can tell she's having a good dream.

No sleeping on the job!

Wake us up when the bell rings!

You're Put To Sleep?

The theme for Charlestown High School's yearbook for the year 88-89 is "BEGINNINGS AND ENDINGS". The staff has drawn up some questions reflecting this, and surveyed selected seniors and freshmen. The following interviews show beginnings and endings.

1. What were your fears coming into a new school?
2. How do you view the next four years?
3. What comes to mind when you hear "BEGINNINGS"?

New School? Would people like me? Would I get along with people? Is this a bad neighborhood.

Next four years? Getting to know a lot of people in the near future, also getting along with them.

"BEGINNINGS" Start & Finish. Will I finish what I start? A lot of people should ask themselves that question and see if they do.

JOYLIA HOPKINS

NICOLE CAMPBELL

New School? My fears were I would have no friends and would get lost where ever I went in this school.

Next four years? I view them as being long but at the same time being short. I'm having fun, and if I keep passing it'll go by fast.

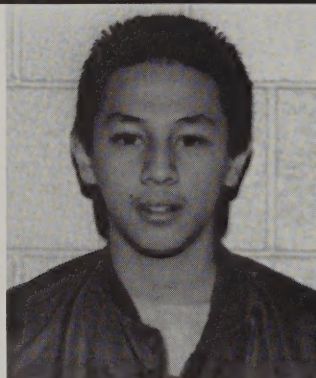

"BEGINNINGS" Lots of things; the beginning of my future, the beginning of making new friends and meeting new people.

New School? My fears entering a new school were making new friends and striving for the goal I want, which is keeping up with my work.

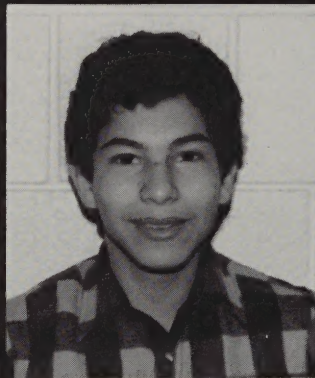

Next four years? I think of myself studying hard and being the best I can.

"BEGINNINGS" To start what you've done, but to improve in it.

ROGER CHOW

FREDDY MARTINEZ

New School? The only fear I had was about the classes, I knew that they were going to be hard, but I didn't know how hard. I knew some people coming into this school, and I could make more friends.

Next four years? I see them as the most important years in my life.

"BEGINNINGS" The starting of something new.

Leaving: My fear of leaving C.H.S. is never seeing my friends who don't live in Charlestown again. I'm also afraid of going out into the working world, and being on my own. I'm going to miss people telling me what to do, and all the fun of high school.

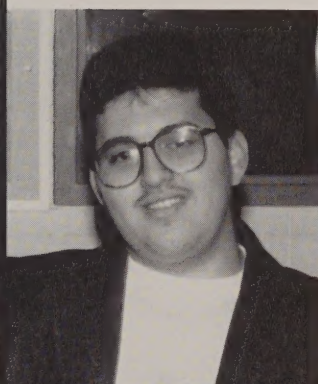

Next year: Next year will be a good year, I hope, but not as good as the class of 89. I think it will be harder with the new system.

"ENDINGS": All the fun of my senior year coming to an end. Also not seeing my friends.

LINDA FORNASH

JOSE LABOY

Leaving: My fears of leaving school are to go out there and be alone. That's the fear I have. Why? Because I'm by myself, I have to work to support myself because my mother isn't going to do it for me anymore.

Next year: I think that when next year comes I could view Myself working in construction. This is what I always wanted to do.

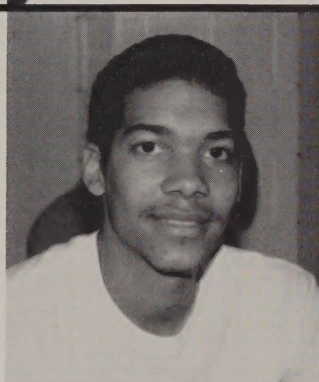

"ENDINGS": I say to myself that the end is near and I'm going to miss a lot of people. Sometimes I wish school wouldn't end. When the ending comes I'll wait for it and send it away.

Leaving? My only fear with leaving High School is wondering if I can hang in college, they say your college years are to be the most fun in your life, but from where I stand it just looks like a lot of work. Don't get me wrong I have nothing against a little hard work but a lot of hard work, I just hope I make it.

Next year? I view next year with open arms and with great anticipation. If everything goes the way I plan I will be a freshman at Bentley College. I'm trying to psych myself up to the all the changes I'm about to go through.

"ENDINGS" When I hear the word "Endings" as long as it refers to the end of my high school career I look at it with total enthusiasm.

MICHAEL HUTCHINSON

WENDY WONG

Leaving? My fears are what will the world be like? Can I survive in the world with my high school Knowledge? I'm scared to leave school.

Next year? I will study in college next year. It's the turning point in my life.

"ENDINGS" Scared, excited, and curious.

1. What are your fears leaving the school?
2. How do you view next year?
3. What comes to mind when you hear "ENDINGS"?

Friendship Begins

Lean on me.

A smile is rarely seen in this class!

Reach out and touch somebody's hand.

Reading is so fun!

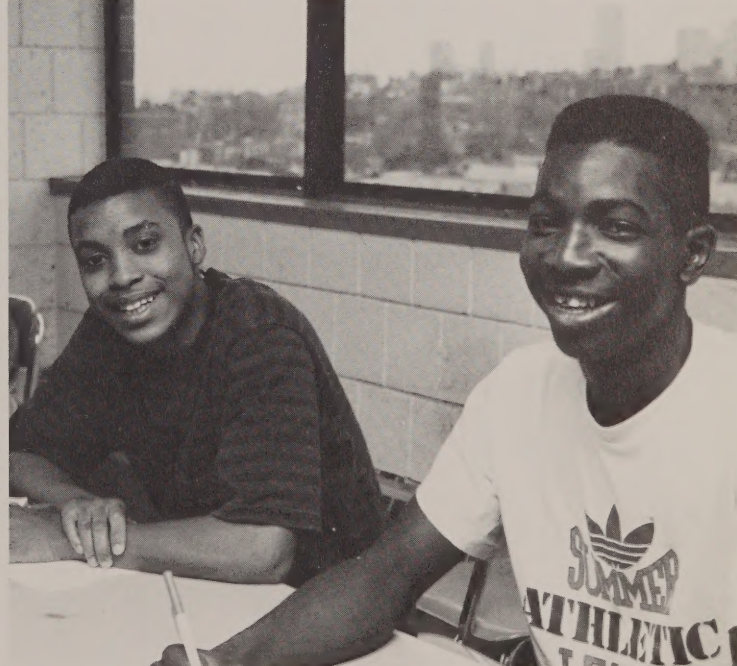

Tomorrow must be Chinese New Year!

Yes, we're happy to be here.

Say Cheese!

Did you say it's almost lunchtime?

With A Smile!

Brrrr . . . 3rd Annual Ski Trip A Success

Charlestown High's third annual ski-trip took place this year on February 9th. Despite the bitter cold weather the students had a great time. After a long lesson which consisted of learning to stand up (and fall down). Overcoming obstacles such as weaving through the instructor's ski-poles the lift tickets were distributed, that was when the real fun began. By the end of the day, the group was quite exhausted, and slept the long ride home.

A cold, tired happy crew.

Taking a break to warm up.

EL CLUB HISPANO

The purpose of the Hispanic Club is to share the cultural unity of the Hispanic students with the rest of the student body. At the same time we also work at preserving out cultural customs and traditions.

There have been several activities this year. Among them a traditional Hispanic luncheon served for the teachers. We also performed many traditional folk dances.

The officers for 1989 are President Nahir Sherry Luna, Vice-President Juan Carlos Amador, Secretary Adela Amador, and Treasurer and Advisor Ms. L. Valverde.

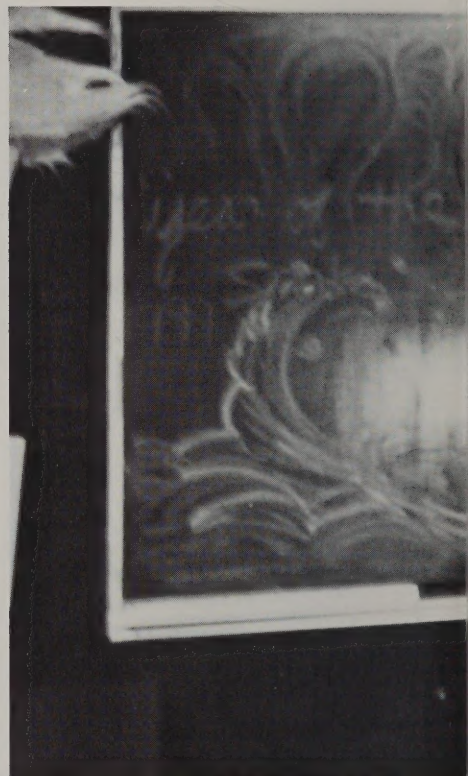

THE YEAR OF THE SNAKE

From the Year of the Dragon to the year of the Snake Charlestown High School Asian Student Club officers have been making their best effort to sponsor many activities and multi-cultural events. This school year, the club president is Kevin Cao; Vice-President is Qi Feng Zhong; the Secretary is Cindy Guan; and the advisors are Mr. Wan and Mr. Louie.

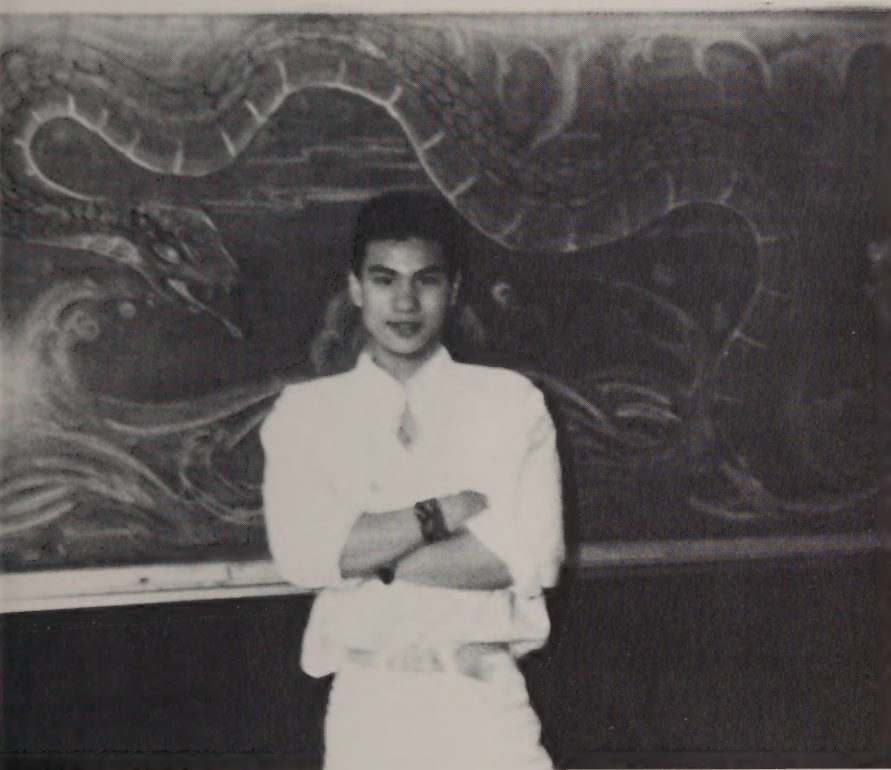

So far this year the club has held many activities including a banquet and lantern contest in celebration of the New Year.

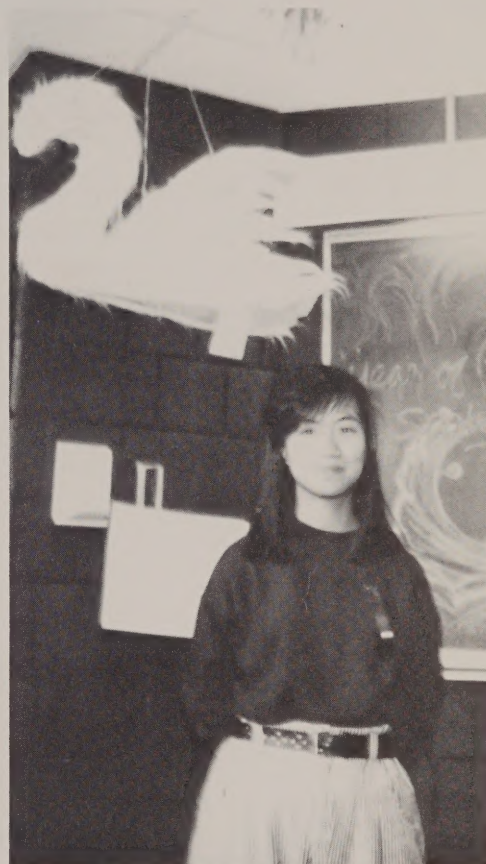

We are ready to serve you.

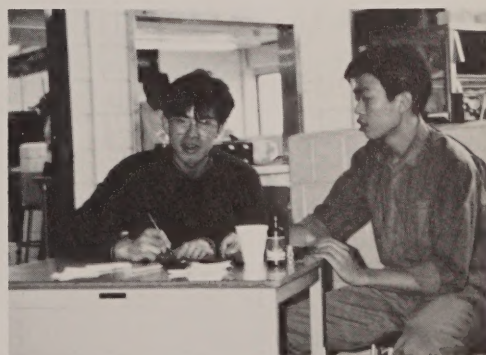

It's time to take a nap.

This year the yearbook staff has worked very hard. Although more than one deadline was missed the staff maintained an optimistic attitude, and you have just seen the finished product.

Once again members of the New England Patriots, and radio station WILD challenged the basketball players of Charlestown to a game. This year the Townies were victorious with a final score of 46 to 42. Although the game was exciting, some students were more interested in getting pictures and autographs from the personalities on the All Star team.

A good time was had by all at an in-school concert given by the New England Air Force band Airwave. Getting the band here was all due to the hard work of our class president Jennifer Laudenslager and guidance counselor Mr. Avery. The students enjoyed the music very much, unfortunately no autographs were given

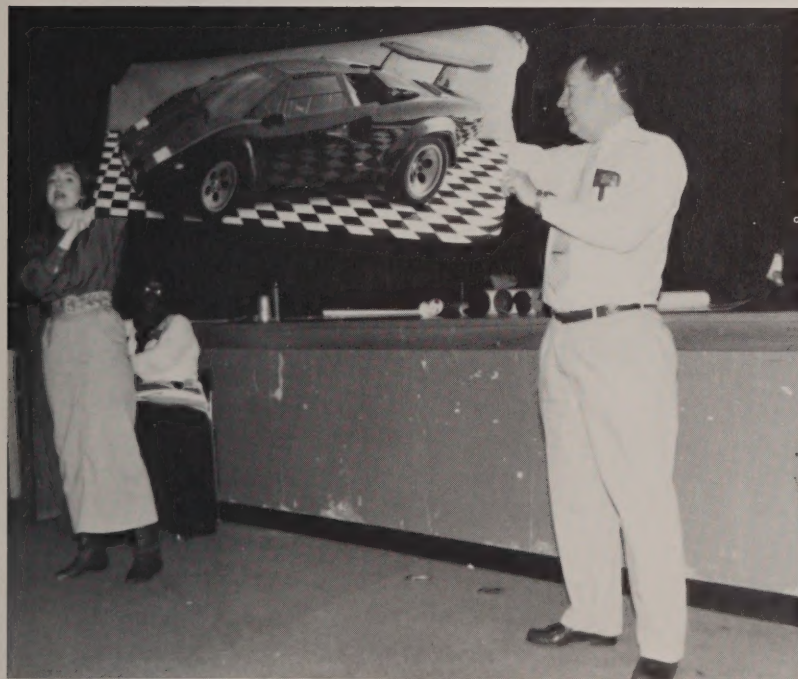

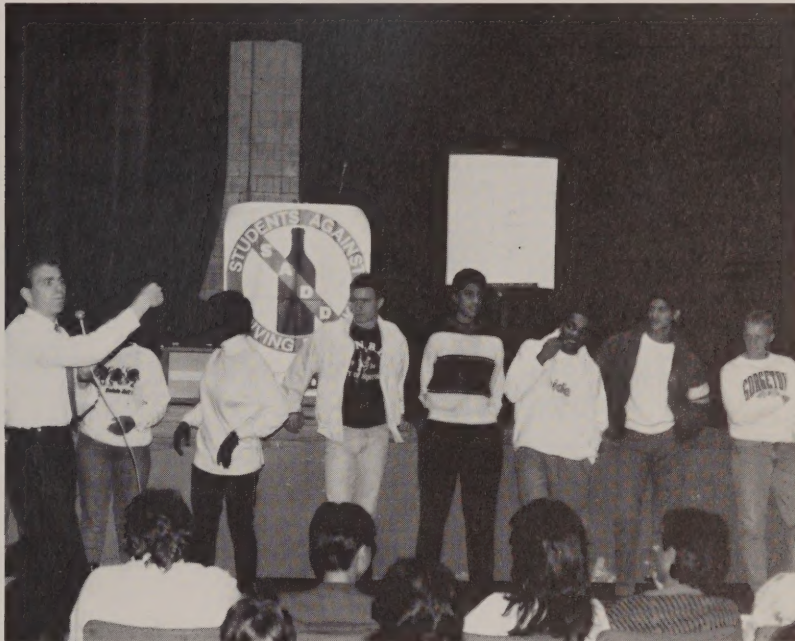

St. Patrick's Day brought out all the leprechauns as the Charlestown High Irish-American Club sponsored a carnation sale. Students and teachers alike purchased the green and white carnations, and the members of the club delivered them throughout the school.

The members of the peer leadership group sponsored an all school assembly, the first in many years. A guest speaker from SADD (Students Against Driving Drunk) came to talk to the students of Charlestown High. Their participation and co-operation was greatly appreciated.

A fund-raising committee this year had a little help. A guest speaker came to show the Senior Class at Charlestown High some interesting ways to make money. A poster drive and a candy sale helped to defer the cost of the prom, etc.

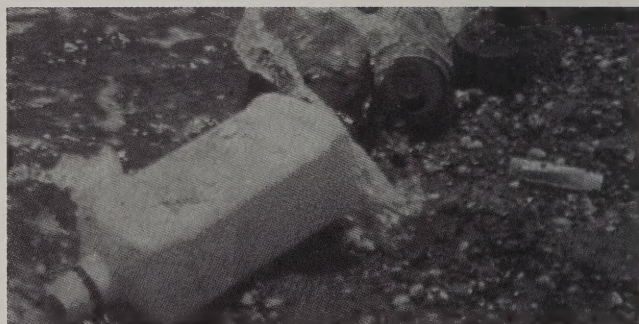

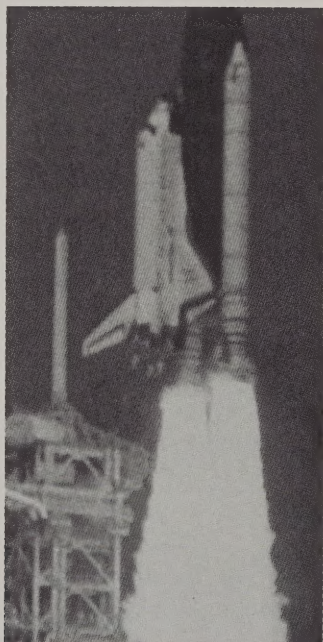

Despite the tough competition, Bush and Quayle won the campaign race to the White House. The Republican reign is extended for four more years.

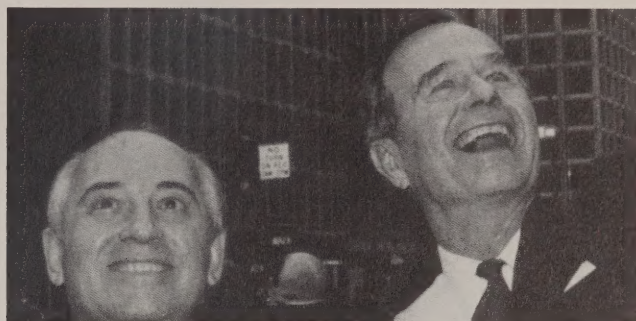

All Nations rushed to aid the Armenians after an earthquake brought about disaster. Thousands of lives were lost and many more were injured.

NASA finally recovered from the Challenger disaster in 1986 by launching the shuttle Discovery. Discovery's successful flight and landing brought confidence back to Americans.

Beaches all along the East coast were closed to the public because of pollution. Various objects were found, from bottles and cans to hypodermic needles and hospital wastes.

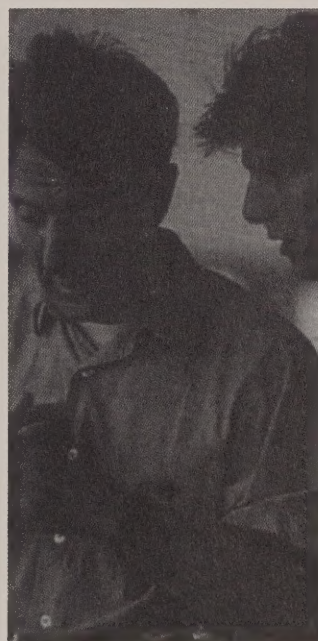

More tragedy, this time Pan Am flight 103, disintegrates over Lockerbie, Scotland. Later investigation showed the crash was the result of a terroristic bomb blast. 258 passengers, and 17 townspeople lost their lives, including 35 American exchange students from Syracuse University on their way home for Christmas.

Mikail Gorbachev's Glasnost policy has loosened the grip that Russia had had on its people. It seems that we might be headed for peace.

The Eastern Airline strike, which started with machinists, soon involved stewardesses and pilots. Although President Bush refused to give an injunction, he did threaten railroad workers who wanted to support the striking airline workers.

Dustin Hoffman received an Oscar nomination for his portrayal of the autistic brother of con-man Tom Cruise. Rainman turned out to be one of this year's biggest movies.
